Judge Humphreys' Charge to Jury

Following is the full text of Judge Humphreys' charge to the Grand Jury this morning:

Mr. Foreman and gentlemen of the grand jury:—I desire to direct your attention to a matter which I feel it proper to advert to at this time. Since the beginning of this term, and since the organization of this jury certain statements have been made in the public press. I desire to say to you, gentlemen of the Grand Jury, that you are not to concern yourselves with any matter or thing, by whomsoever it may purport to have been written or signed, which appears in the public press of this city or in any public with crimes that have been or are alleged to have been committed and with press. Your duty is to concern yourselves with such matters as this court charged you to investigate and report on. We are concerned with present evils and conditions. Let us look hopefully to the future, care for the present and not dig up things of the past. On the 12th day of August, 1898, the Republic of Hawaii passed into history. Like any other historical fact it is subject to criticism and censure if critics and censure be deserved. It is not for you to determine whether or not certain conditions did prevail here prior to the 12th day of August, 1898. It is a matter of which you can absolutely take no cognizance. It is not within your duty to determine whether or not the monarchy was rightfully overthrown; whether or not troops were properly landed here from an American man of war. It is a matter of some historical importance as to whether or not Mary, Queen of Scots was rightfully beheaded, but this grand jury is not to concern itself with that any more than as to whether the Hebrew or the Gentile religion is the proper religion. Such an investigation besides opening up a wide field of enquiry would be absurd. You will not be influenced by anything said in the public press. There are many things said in the press that are true, and unfortunately many things are said in the press that are untrue, but it is not your business and place to run through a threshing machine all of the idle remarks made from time to time in the public press. With this caution you may retire.

Emperor William's Words Were Hasty

Berlin, July 28.—Emperor William's address to the soldiers comprising the China expedition forms the subject of general discussion today. The Emperor's instructions to spare no Chinese and make no prisoners are condemned by nearly everybody one meets, and also by the press. The "Lokal Anzeiger" pretends that the Emperor did not mean what his words implied, but that he merely wished to caution the members of the expedition that they would meet a foe who does not spare and makes no prisoners. But nearly all the other papers, commenting upon the Emperor's speech, strongly argue against it. The "Tagblatt," in a specially caustic manner, reminding the Emperor that telling his soldiers to carry civilization into China and in the same breath enjoining them to deal with ferocious severity there do not tally. Besides, the paper argues, the Emperor has no right to so instruct the expedition, because the expedition will form part of a whole and be under the command of a chief of some other nationality, whose instructions solely they must obey. The paper maintains that "the Emperor's behavior is likely to split up the harmony of the Powers, as doubtless some of the Powers will not agree to the Emperor's instructions." Several papers draw a parallel between this latest speech by Emperor William and the one delivered in 1898, dedicating to the Redeemer the church at Jerusalem, on which occasion the Emperor preached the gospel of Christianity long suffering toward all nations.
